Public Policy - Gender Pay Gap

AAUW National recently issued a 2025 Update to their Gender Pay Gap statistics. The pay gap is the difference in men's and women's median earnings, usually reported as the earnings ratio between men and women. Despite pay discrimination being illegal for over half a century, the gender pay gap remains a glaring inequity, undermining both workers' livelihoods and the strength of our economy.

AAUW is calling for rigorous enforcement and strengthening of the Equal Pay Act, reinstatement of pay data collection by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and advancing state pay equity laws. On March 31, 2025, AAUW joined over 100 organizations committed to strengthening women's economic security and sent a letter to members of Congress in support of the Paycheck Fairness Act which would update and bolster the Equal Pay Act of 1963. Additional policy recommendations to address the gender pay gap include higher education support, paid leave, childcare access, and reproductive health.

To review the 2025 update data and other important policy recommendations, check out aauw.org. You can find "Gender Pay Gap" under "Explore the Issues."

Tech Trek

The Tech Trek committee has selected 5 girls to attend camps this summer. Sofi Dam, Xiara Alvarez, and Jessie Espinoza from Warner Middle School along with Eymar Yargas from Stacey Middle School will all go to the residential camp at Whittier College in June, and Nghi Vu from Stacey will participate in the virtual program in July. It's a great group of young ladies!

MEMBERSHIP

We would like to thank our members who are actively inviting prospective members to attend our general meetings, special interest group activities, as well as, to our upcoming Authors Luncheon. You know who you are! Great job! At our March General Meeting, we had four prospective members attend. Let's keep it up.

We've had members say "I am not good at this! I don't know where to begin." Sound familiar? Well, at this month's state branch development meeting, this tip was suggested: Develop a quick 30-second pitch on the value of AAUW to you, rehearse it, and then use it when you have the opportunity to share with someone you think might be interested. Try it and let us know how it works for you. Be prepared with your pitch as opportunities to share appear when we least expect it.
